It can easily be seen from this statement that the towns in Eastern Carolina are becoming real manufacturing centers as well as big trade centers for the million people living in this section.

Other industries will thrive and prosper just as well as these that are here have done.

Any further information about any of the towns listed in this booklet will be furnished either by the town or the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, Inc., Headquarters, Kinston, N. C.

PREFACE

In presenting this the first issue of the Industrial Review of Eastern North Carolina, using the towns as units, we wish to call your attention to the fact that information in this publication is authentic. Although the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce does not guarantee any statements made by the various towns, yet we have taken every precaution to get the authentic information. It is not our purpose to over state the advantages offered, but we do wish to convey to you, if you are thinking of changing your location, the facts which we believe will be interesting.

Located in the Extreme Southern Part of Johnston - - - , The South's Greatest Agricultural County, Only One Hour's Drive from the State Capital—On Main Line of Atlantic Coast Line Railway—In the Heart of the Most Productive Section of the Cotton Belt—Largest Poultry Market in the State—Ideal Climate: 280 Feet Above Sea Level—More Paving Per Capita Than Any Town in the State.

LOCATION:

BENSON is situated on the main line of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway, 32 miles from Fayetteville and 16 miles from Smithfield. The distance to Raleigh, the State Capital, is only 46 miles and on the completion of the Benson-Garner-Raleigh road which is now in progress, the distance will be only 28 miles. BENSON is also on the proposed route of the Carolinas-Florida Short Route from Richmond to Jacksonville. Highway 22 from Fayetteville to Wilson runs through the town.

CLIMATE:

The climate of BENSON is unsurpassed, equaling in every respect that of the noted Sandhills. Its winters are mild, just enough crispness in the air to make one love the open, while heat of the Summer is tempered by the gentle breezes that continually sweep the Atlantic Seaboard.

POPULATION:

BENSON has a population of 2,000. Johnston, the County in which BENSON is located, is one of the most populous counties in the State, the population according to the 1920 census being 48,000. It is made up of a thickly settled agricultural region.

AGRICULTURE:

The region around Benson is proclaimed the most fertile agricultural section in the world by numerous authorities on agriculture. Nowhere on the globe can there be found a region that produces cotton year by year more consistently and in such mammoth yields as does the BENSON section. Large yields of other farm crops are not uncommon. Johnston County has been the leading cotton producing county in the State since 1921. In 1923 62,000 bales of cotton were produced in the county. It is primarily a section of small farmers and tenants are rare.

MARKETING FACILITIES:

BENSON offers excellent marketing facilities for the various agricultural products that are produced in the section. Here one of the largest cotton markets in the State will be found. In 1923 thirteen thousand bales of cotton were marketed in BENSON and within a ten-mile radius it is safe to say that considerably over fifty thousand bales of the fleecy staple went over the buyer's scales. Within a few miles several of the world's largest tobacco markets are available. And here, too, will be found the largest poultry market in North Carolina. Annually around seventy-five thousand dollars worth of poultry is shipped out of BENSON to Richmond and other northern markets.

MANUFACTURING:

Opportunities to those who have capital and with a purpose toward manufacturing are most excellent. Hitherto manufacturing in this section has been carried on more or less on a restricted scale. The section has been largely a producer of the raw product rather than a manufacturer of the raw product. To this, the more intricate problem, little attention has been paid. The sentiment, locally, however is to aid and foster manufacturing in every way possible and free taxes for five years and free sites are offered to those who will come in and start manufactories. Manufacturing at present in this section is principally confined to wood-work plants. One of the largest woodwork shops in Eastern Carolina will be found here.

CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS:

The religious and educational advantages of BENSON are unsurpassed. Five wide-awake churches are within her limits, while she can boast of one of the best high schools in the State.

FACTS ABOUT BENSON:

BENSON has more street paving per capita than any other town in North Carolina.

BENSON has two strong banks with adequate resources to care for the financial needs of the community.

BENSON is the largest poultry shipping center in the State.

BENSON has one of the largest cotton markets in the State.

Within a radius of fifty miles of BENSON about one-fourth of all the cotton produced in North Carolina is grown.

BENSON is adjacent to some of the world's greatest tobacco markets, which makes it possible for one to grow the golden weed if they desire, thereby assuring the homeseeker that it is not necessary here to put all the eggs in one market.

Lastly, here live some of the finest people in the world. Here will be found the true one hundred per cent Americans. Not a purer Anglo-Saxon strain of blood will be found on earth than in Johnston County. North Carolina has a larger per cent of native born population than any State in the Union and here will be found the "most American" of North Carolinians.

TO THE HOMESEAKER:

If you are in search for a place to cast your lot, why not come to BENSON, North Carolina? Here you will find the most wonderful and agreeable climate in the world. Here you will find the most wonderful producing soil on the globe. Should your inclinations lead you to business you will find rare opportunities and a hearty welcome here for you. Aside from the business of mere existence and making money, here you will find ample opportunity for the cultivation of the finer things of life. Churches and schools and the companionship of cultured people for which this community is renowned assure you these. A few miles in any direction will bring you to institutions where the advantages for higher education may be had.

DUNN, N. CAROLINA

Surrounded by a fertile agricultural section that produces cotton, tobacco, grain, fruits, trucking, poultry and hogs, DUNN, N. C., has developed into a splendid market for farm products. Cotton alone sold in DUNN last year amounted to over three and one-half million dollars and the distinction of being the largest wagon cotton market in the State is justly claimed. Splendid railroad facilities, good banks, schools, churches, improved roads, ample electric power, native labor, plenty of water, an ideal climate and many other advantages make this section desirable for industries of all kinds.

EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED FREE SITES AND FREE TAXES

There are two prerequisites to any successful business; in the first place you have to have something to sell and in the second place you have to have a purchaser. In the third place the purchaser must be able to buy and in order to be able to buy he must be in a producing section.

Eastern North Carolina, as she is being portrayed in this booklet, reveals not only the producing power of the people, but the tremendous demand for the various commercial products offered by the business houses of the various towns. You will readily observe that the towns in Eastern Carolina are for the most part, medium in size. They are very close together, which necessarily makes competition keen. But without competition, no business can do its best. Comparatively speaking there are very few business failures in Eastern Carolina that are due to lack of legitimate business. There are those that fail for lack of proper system or due to unsound business methods. It is interesting to find so many business firms in Eastern Carolina reading something like this, "John Doe and Son." In most cases the John Doe, the founder of the business has been dead long ago, but the business is still running in the original name. This within itself is proof of the stability of business in Eastern North Carolina. It is not unusual to see on the letter heads "this business established thirty years ago, or forty years ago." And yet the Commercial Agencies that keep information on the successes and failures of business houses all over the United States, show a very large percent of the general mercantile business houses fail before one generation has passed out, to say nothing of handing the business down from father to son and so on down the line. This is the best proof we could give to convince you that business is good in Eastern North Carolina. If you are contemplating a change in location it will pay you to wait to get our report before deciding upon any location. The Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, Inc., is a non profit-sharing organization and does not benefit directly from any deals that are made. For this reason we can urge you to come and look our situation over. We shall be pleased to show you over any town in our territory, or have the local Chamber of Commerce Secretary show you around.

CLAYTON, - - NORTH CAROLINA

Located among the foot hills of the Piedmont section, is in the midst of one of the best farming sections of the State.

Our chief products are Corn, Cotton, Tobacco, Wheat and Sweet Potatoes, but vegetables may be grown here with profit for the early markets.

We have one of the best cotton markets in the State, due largely to the efforts of our two large mercantile firms, Messrs. Ashley Horne & Son and J. G. Barbour & Sons, besides we have four local cotton buyers representing some of the largest cotton dealers in the State.

We have a Graded High School with an enrollment of over seven hundred pupils at the present, and we were forced recently to vote $150,000 in bonds to build additional buildings to take care of the increasing demands along this line, our present building, however, being of the modern type with good facilities.

We also have five new church buildings of modern type, representing all but one of the most progressive denominations of the present time, giving to us the best in religious, social and educational life.

Our women are active in religious, social and industrial life, having several women's clubs, a Ladies' Aid Society, several Missionary Societies, and numerous other things tending to the upbuilding of the town and community, thereby assuring those who locate in Clayton the best for themselves and their families.

We have two cotton mills, one oil mill, two up-to-date fertilizer plants and two lumber mills, all together employing somewhere around one thousand people.

With this line of industrial corporations we can offer employment to those who are looking work.

We have two good strong banks who are able to care for the needs of our industrial concerns, and also the individual business that may be located here.

Our merchants cannot be excelled in caring for the needs of their customers and friends, however, they invite others to come as they are not afraid of competition.

Located as we are we have the best water and the purest air to be found, assuring the best of health to those who may cast their lot with us. Our staff of physicians, dentists and druggists are of the highest type.

We have water and sewer, electric lights and all the modern conveniences arising from these, and have just completed a twenty thousand dollar contract of paving with other projects for paving in sight, yet our tax rate is only $1.25 on the hundred dollars.

We invite those who are interested in a location to look us over, assuring you that any of the town officials, merchants, and bankers will be glad to show you our town.

EVERY TOWN A MARKET CENTER IN EASTERN NORTH CAROLINA

People in any section usually, leave their money where they sell their produce. If the highways leading to the towns and cities are in good condition, it increases the amount of business for the merchants and business firms because it will naturally bring more "sellers" to town. If the roads are in bad order and travel is inconvenient, naturally the producers sell less often which necessarily lessens their buying power.

A study of the highways of Eastern North Carolina will show that every town of any size at all, has excellent inlets and outlets by highways to the nearby community. As a matter of fact with the towns as close together as they are and the connections by hard-surfaced roads as they are, a distributor in one town can deliver to his customers in towns fifty miles distant within three hours. This makes it easy to do a large volume of business with a minimum amount of over-head expense. We have in mind now, one wholesale produce and provision concern that sends out fourteen trucks every day to the surrounding territory, daily. These trucks come in every night empty and leave the next day loaded again. No need to wait on freight cars, just load your trucks and send them on at your own convenience.

With these facts as they are we can safely encourage you to cast your lot as a business man in some of our Eastern Carolina towns listed in this booklet. The opportunity is here.

MANUFACTURERS HAVE GOOD OPPORTUNITY

Not only does the Eastern Carolina town offer unexcelled advantages to the business concern engaged in the selling and buying of commercial products. But it offers an unusual opportunity to the manufacturers of almost any article. The raw materials are here in abundance, the labor is here, the factory sites are here, the FREE taxes are here, the transportation facilities are here, and the consuming public is within your own reach. What better combination could you muster together anywhere in the United States than this? If you have a safe business, even financial aid may be had. We invite you to investigate before placing your contract to locate in some other place. In our opinion, it will pay you to come and look this field over before locating anywhere else.

WILLIAMSTON

The Gateway City of Northeastern Carolina—Situated 30 Miles Southwest of Albemarle Sound, in Martin County, on the Roanoke River—An Open Port for Those Who Desire Health, Wealth and Happiness.

HEALTH.

Like the majestic city of ancient Rome, WILLIAMSTON is built on seven hills.

Our forefathers in selecting this high spot overlooking the banks of the Roanoke River had in mind, no doubt, the ideal drainage, the freedom from mosquitoes and malaria, and the natural beauty which such a location offered for those seeking a home in Nature's Paradise.

Today, pure, sparkling water pumped from half-dozen deep, bored wells furnish the city with its water supply. Strict sanitary regulations are enforced, and with paved streets and a profusion of trees throughout the city, being healthy is so natural that it is the exception for one to be sick. With a mean annual temperature of 59 F., a winter mean of 43 F. and a summer mean of 77 F., WILLIAMSTON offers a climate unsurpassed for the weak and the strong, the young and the old.

WEALTH.

To fully set forth the opportunities offered by WILLIAMSTON to those seeking financial wealth would be to use a surplus amount of magazine space.

We are happy in the knowledge that we can offer the investor practically every opportunity that any other Eastern Carolina city has to offer, AND SO MUCH MORE, that we will only mention a few of the extra advantages to be found here.

Located favorable to water transportation, and with competing railroad and auto lines, the shipper enjoys a maximum advantage.

The Federal, State and County Governments have recently completed a three and one-half mile bridge and causeway across the Roanoke River at WILLIAMSTON, thereby connecting all of Northeastern Carolina with direct highway lanes of travel through the remainder of the State. This opens up a large, rich, non-competitive territory comprising several counties and numbers of progressive towns and villages, which naturally look to WILLIAMSTON as a trade and social center.

INDUSTRIAL.

With five improved and hard-surfaced roads leading in all directions to and from WILLIAMSTON, this city is within easy access to Norfolk, Raleigh, Richmond, Wilmington and other points.

There are many openings here for wholesale and retail supply houses, and with practically no manufacturing in this section, WILLIAMSTON has to offer free sites for most any worthy manufacturing concern. There are excellent opportunities here for fertilizer, meal, oil, cotton, silk, pants, overall, shirt, novelty and various other factories; as well as sash and blind mills, lumber mills, hosiery mills, and hardwood plants. The raw product for any of the above operations can be obtained on the spot. A peanut candy factory offers a rare chance for the investor, as well as peanut cleaning plants, etc.

AGRICULTURAL.

The farming country around WILLIAMSTON is famed for its diversity of farm products. Where most sections depend on one or more main crops, the agriculturists in this section have a diversity so great that no wonder this is an agricultural Arcadia.

In the Springtime, the farmer can sell money crops of Irish potatoes, May peas, cabbage, and other truck, and on the same land, raise a fall crop of Tobacco, Cotton, Peanuts, Sweet Potatoes and Beans. All during the Summer fine fruit and vegetables can be raised and marketed; also Martin County chicken raising has recently become a profitable business. No finer pecans are grown anywhere than are found on the local markets, here, home grown.

On account of the large areas of farming land, and the natural tendency of farmers' children to move to the cities, there are some wonderful bargains to be had in fine, improved land from $50.00 to $100.00 per acre, and on easy terms.

HAPPINESS.

With the aforementioned opportunities of HEALTH and WEALTH, it is but natural that somewhere in the offering, HAPPINESS may be found. WILLIAMSTON has always been the home of happy, contented people. Nowhere in the whole South can be found a degree of genuine hospitality greater than the people of this city offer to the stranger within her gates. Along with this, there is a fine system of public schools, children's playgrounds, social, religious and industrial clubs and organizations; a general variety of churches, athletic associations, auditoriums and theatres. There is no racial strife, and LIVE AND LET LIVE is the prevailing motto.

PINK HILL is situated in the southeastern part of Lenoir County on the Kinston Carolina Railroad, seventeen miles from Kinston, sixteen miles from Kenansville. It was founded in 1908 by Hon. Squire George Turner. The population is a few more than three hundred.

PINK HILL is connected with Kinston by the Kinston Carolina Railroad, and a hard surface highway. An improved road is being constructed to Kenansville.

PINK HILL has a bank, a hotel, a garage, seven stores, a tobacco warehouse, and an electric light plant to light the town. There is one church and one parsonage in the village.

PINK HILL has a standard high school, class "B," with eleven teachers and four hundred fifty pupils. The school operates twelve trucks for the transportation of pupils. The new $35,000.00 High School building is now in service.

PINK HILL is surrounded by an abundance of cheap productive land which is rapidly being developed since the construction of good roads. Tobacco, corn, cotton, strawberries and vegetables grow well. There are no swamps in the vicinity; hence the climate is healthy and the land well drained. THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE will be glad to offer inducements to anyone who wishes to establish any enterprise in PINK HILL.

WINTER AND SUMMER RESORTS CONDITIONS IDEAL. MANY ADVANTAGES NOT OFFERED ANYWHERE ELSE. ONLY FEW HOURS RIDE FROM YOUR NORTHERN HOME

There is no line of business that offers such excellent opportunities as the establishment of Winter and Summer Resorts in Eastern North Carolina. With the prevailing climate the year round, this line of business could be easily made a tremendous proposition.

Midway Between North and South

Most any Eastern Carolina town can be reached within 24 hours after leaving the main cities in the North and East. No three or four days tiresome ride to reach a comfortable and up-to-date resort. The big business men of the North could spend the summers and winters in Eastern Carolina and carry on their business at home without any inconvenience. The best hunting in the whole country is here in season. The best beaches in the country are here for swimming. The ideal climate is here, and the locations for handsome resorts of all kinds are here. They just simply need the application of a little money and the touch of the financier to make them blossom into paying businesses within a very short time. Hunting preserves are here and can be had at a very reasonable price. Golf courses are already here and there is room for more. Every means of legitimate entertainment can be provided in Eastern Carolina at as little expense as can be had anywhere in the whole country. If you are interested in this line of work, it will certainly pay you to investigate our offering before buying elsewhere. We have in mind several sites that we can refer you to right away that can easily be put in shape within a year for receiving guests. We believe in this potential wealth we have and we welcome you to come and help us realize on it.

WHERE HEALTH, PLEASURE AND PROSPERITY
MAY BE YOURS

LAGRANGE is in the center of a rich agricultural section, midway between Goldsboro and Kinston on the Norfolk Southern railroad and on the Central Highway, the longest hard-surfaced road in the State and one of the longest in the country.

The town is well governed, is rapidly liquidating its small bonded debt, has excellent light and power plant. Its volunteer fire department is officially decreed one of the best in the State. The section has long been a leader in educational facilities. The hospitality of the people, the pure drinking water easily obtained on any grounds and the productiveness of the soil suggested years ago the sobriquet "The Garden Spot" and this nickname by which the town is widely known, is entirely appropriate for the community.

If it is to rent or buy a home just for health and pleasure—COME TO LAGRANGE.

The Neuse river, four miles distant, with its lowlands offers the best sport for the hunter or fisherman and if you desire a good location for a club house where you and your friends may come periodically for recreation—COME TO LAGRANGE.

BUT THE TREMENDOUS ADVANTAGE WHICH COTTON MILLS AND OTHER MANUFACTURING CAPITAL CANNOT OVERLOOK, IS THE EXCELLENT INDUCEMENTS OFFERED HERE.

The town has no factories but from the hundreds of family homes may be culled any amount of labor, free of the detrimental labor union proclivities. Successful manufacturers are learning that factory workers assembled in agricultural communities will render greater satisfaction and remain more contented than where crowded with purely a factory population.

LOCATION: Selma is located in the eastern part of North Carolina at the junction of the main line of the Atlantic Coast Line and Southern Railways. These two roads give us excellent traveling and freight facilities. We have 56 trains daily, 29 freight and 27 passenger trains, making through connections for freight or travel to any point in the United States. Our freight facilities gives us an ideal town for manufacturing enterprises. In addition to our railroad connections, we have two state highways which pass through SELMA and these together with good sand clay branch roads furnish excellent highway accommodations to and from town for travel and hauling.

INDUSTRIES: We have three large cotton yarn factories, one of which has a weaving department, one of the largest fertilizer plants in the state, a branch of the Southern Cotton Oil Co., ice plant, lumber plant and yards, large brick plant, newspaper and job printing office, Southern Railway Co. owns and operates a large yard here, two strong banks, one state and one national, with several smaller enterprises in addition to our successful retail and wholesale merchants who can supply the needs of any individual, home or farm in any line from their complete stocks. Our payroll amounts to over $1,000,000.00 annually, the greater percent of which is spent in our town. We have a reasonable low tax rate and living conditions are cheap.

OPPORTUNITIES: Selma offers wonderful opportunities to manufacturing enterprises. The moderate living cost, available labor, unlimited electric power, freight and shipping facilities, desirable and cheap factory sites obtainable and an ideal working climate should induce manufacturers to locate here. We need more manufacturing establishments and will offer special inducements for such.

12,612,808 ACRES UNTILLED LAND IN EASTERN CAROLINA

The 1920 census showed that there are in the 46 counties covered by this organization, 12,612,808 acres of land that aren't being cultivated. There are 3,180,732 acres that are being cultivated, which represents about one-fourth of the total area under cultivation.

The total value of the crops of Eastern Carolina will reveal what a wonderful opportunity there is here for new settlers. The total productivity of the land under cultivation, represents only a small portion of the wealth that is really here. There are millions of acres not producing that would produce in the same proportion as those acres that are producing. Thousands of acres of this land don't even need drainage.

THE PORT AND RESORT OF WILMINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA

By LOUIS T. MOORE,

Secretary of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce

Situated thirty miles from the mouth of the Cape Fear River, which has a sufficient depth to accommodate vessels drawing up to twenty-seven and a half feet of water, Wilmington, North Carolina, is one of the most favorably located of the South Atlantic ports of the United States. It is midway between New York and Florida and serves a great agricultural and industrial district. Both the Seaboard Air Line Railway and the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad serve the port. Their various branches afford half a dozen or more routes by which the city can be approached from various sections of the territory, of which it is the trading and shipping center.

Regular service is maintained by water routes with other ports on the Atlantic Coast, while vessels bound for foreign ports call continuously at its terminals.

During the world war a considerable shipbuilding industry was developed at Wilmington by the government. Two of the large shipbuilding yards are now being converted into industrial centers and terminals for the manufacture and storage of merchandise bound for foreign and domestic markets. Many improvements (including the dredging of a thirty-foot channel from the mouth of the Cape Fear River to the city docks) are either under way or have been planned for the near future. It is confidently expected that the port's traffic will develop rapidly.

Wilmington has a well protected anchorage basin approximately 3,000 feet long by 700 feet wide. The value of merchandise passing through the port during the past fiscal year was approximately $80,000,000. In view of this fact, it is expected that the government will take favorable action on the plan for deepening the channel of the river in order to permit vessels drawing up to thirty feet of water to proceed to the city docks. There is a thirty-foot depth of water across the bar at the mouth of the river. The port already has excellent docking facilities. Warehouses and sheds afford approximately 1,000,000 square feet of storage space along the waterfront.

Wilmington's deep water channel enables ships to dock at local wharves and discharge cargoes for interior points. With a waterway transportation volume of business aggregating at present from seventy to eighty million dollars, there is no doubt that the State will be able to serve its citizens through continuous utilization of Wilmington as a port of entry.

BANKING FACILITIES

Wilmington is one of the strongest banking centers in the State. Bank resources approximate $25,000,000, with capital and surplus of about four million dollars. Wilmington's strong financial institutions are of direct benefit and service not only to the community but to the entire State. The banks of Wilmington display a commendable attitude toward new enterprises and are always willing to extend very reasonable co-operation and accommodations based on proper degree of protection.

RESORT ADVANTAGES

Wilmington, "The City by the Sea," is unique in its natural advantages as a winter and summer resort. It is surrounded by water, with the Cape Fear and Northeast rivers on the one hand, and a succession of popular beaches on the other. Among these may be mentioned Wrightsville, Carolina, Wilmington and Fort Fisher beaches. In summer the usual water sports, dancing and various forms of entertainment may be secured, chiefly at Wrightsville and Carolina beaches. In the fall and early winter "surf fishing" at all these beaches is a favorite form of amusement, when large catches of bluefish, drum and Spanish mackerel, result.

An excellent electric service is maintained to Wrightsville Beach throughout the year, with a special half hour service in the summer months. Splendid automobile roads lead to the other beaches and the tourist is assured of ample entertainment and delightful surroundings at any season of the year.

At the mouth of the historic Cape Fear is located "Smith's Island" or "Bald-Head." The development of this island as a year-round resort has already been commenced. The climate the year round is virtually tropical. Palmetto trees, palm and other forms of tropical flora are found there in abundance. Near Smith's Island is located the famous old stronghold of the Confederacy, "Fort Fisher." This is one of the most wonderful achievements in fort-building in the world's history and was the scene of the greatest naval engagement in the world's history prior to the Russo-Japanese War.

INDUSTRIAL FACTS

Nearly 150 different articles are manufactured in the city or in the hinterland for which Wilmington is the natural outlet. A number of large fertilizer factories are located at this point and the imports of raw materials are of great volume. The gross value of business in fertilizers and fertilizer materials in 1924 was estimated at about $20,000,000.

This district is also noted for its timber resources. It is estimated that 100,000,000 feet of standing timber is located within a radius of twenty-five miles of the port. Several varieties of marketable timber grow abundantly throughout the district served by the port.

AGRICULTURAL POINTS

A large portion of the territory about Wilmington is utilized for agricultural purposes. Agricultural products form a considerable proportion of the exports through the port. The three essentials of successful agriculture—good soil, an ample and evenly distributed rainfall and a long growing season—are found in the Wilmington district. Consequently, the farm products of this section are abundant and varied, while cotton and tobacco form the staple crops of the entire region. Under normal conditions one-fifth of the 2,500,000 bales of cotton produced in North and South Carolina is shipped through the port. Alexander Sprunt & Son, one of the largest cotton export firms of the country has its headquarters here. Wilmington is one of the few Southern ports that is not wholly dependent upon cotton and tobacco crops, due to the diversification of its industries. When these crops are short, the port still has its many other products to depend upon.

INDUSTRIES

SMITHFIELD has the requisites for a real home town. Good government, thriving industries, good schools and churches, pure water, clean streets, good roads, opportunities for the rising generation, a progressive community spirit—all make for a splendid inducement to folks looking for a good town in which to live. Smithfield is the center of a fine farming section, and merchandising is a profitable industry. As a market for the produce of the farm, it offers the best advantages. For years it has been the only tobacco market in a county of 50,000 population, last year two auction warehouses and one co-operative warehouse being operated, selling approximately 4,000,000 pounds of the golden weed. Cotton buyers on this market last year purchased 7,500 bales of cotton besides that marketed through the co-operative association. Two cotton mills give employment to native labor and the town offers an attractive inducement to the establishment of other manufactories by giving exemption from town taxes for a period of ten years.

HEALTHFUL LOCATION

SMITHFIELD is alert to health conditions. Scientific drainage of the town four years ago and the maintenance of systematic spraying has reduced malaria almost to a minimum. The town has an unusually low death rate. When one does need medical attention, however, a corps of physicians and a hospital with a successful surgeon provide adequate treatment.

SCHOOLS AND CHURCHES

SMITHFIELD has the best when it comes to schools and churches. Five churches, Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Episcopal and Primitive Baptist, working harmoniously, provide a religious atmosphere that no town can afford to be without. An accredited high school with a faculty of thirty gives its graduates opportunity to enter not only colleges of this State but any college in the Southern Association of Colleges without entrance examinations. Two modern, commodious brick buildings for the white school children and a fourteen-room brick structure for the negro children are ample for educational needs years to come.

CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS

SMITHFIELD is more than a wide place in the road. Paved streets and sidewalks, electric lights and water-works give it a "city air." Neuse River, upon which the town is located, furnishes the water supply, the drinking water having an especially fine analysis from the state laboratories. Electric power to turn all sorts of machinery is available. A fire company with splendid fire-fighting apparatus combine to give Smithfield an unusually low insurance rate.

OTHER ADVANTAGES

SMITHFIELD is the county seat of one of the fifty best counties in the United States and has a court house second to none in North Carolina. It is located only twenty-eight miles from the State capital, a paved highway joining the two towns. Two main highways of the State, Route No. 10 that traverses the State from east to west, and Route No. 22 that goes through the State from north to south, intersect in this city, and the Florida-Carolinas Short Route will in all probability be located through Smithfield. It is on the main line of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad. A Building and Loan Association has just closed the most successful year of its history, having built on an average last year, a $4,000 house every thirty days. Two strong banks furnish adequate banking facilities. One institution is a state bank with resources of $385,000. This bank is only three years old and has the distinction of never having had to charge off a bad loan. The other, a national bank, is the oldest in the county and has a paid in capital stock of $175,000. This is the largest bank for the size of the town in North Carolina.

BIGGEST ASSET

SMITHFIELD'S biggest asset, however, is its people. Genial and kindly, they know how to make a stranger "one of them." Those who come to Smithfield temporarily want to stay. The citizens believe in their town. They believe in booster organizations. Besides a newspaper, a necessity in any progressive town, a Kiwanis Club that lives up to its motto, more than a hundred women organized into a Woman's Club and a Chamber of Commerce are continually on the alert to improve Smithfield.

SMITHFIELD'S AMBITIONS

SMITHFIELD is progressive. Smithfield wants more POPULATION, more INDUSTRY, more CAPITAL, more TRADE, more PROSPERITY. SMITHFIELD is ready to give the glad hand to citizens of the right sort.

SOME FACTS ABOUT EASTERN NORTH CAROLINA

There isn't anything that speaks so strong as Facts, and Eastern Carolina has the facts to prove her claims to pre-eminence as a section in many respects. North Carolina stands fourth in the United States in the production of Agricultural products in 1923, and she stands fifth in the production of all products. Her cotton crop of over a million bales, at an average of $185.00 per bale, went a long ways towards bringing her total up to the winning point. It is a fact that 736,875 bales of this cotton were grown in the 46 counties embraced in the territory of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce. The total tobacco products in 1923 amounted to $85,000,000.00 for the entire State and the statistics show that $58,000,000.00 of this tobacco was grown in the territory covered by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce. The State's truck, fruit, and vegetable products amounted to $30,000,000.00. The territory covered by this organization produced of this amount $25,000,000.00. The total manufactured products of the State amounted to $352,000,000.00. The Eastern part of the State covered by this organization produced $186,000,000.00 of this total. This will give the citizens of this State an idea as to what this section is really doing in the way of producing. The outsider can very readily see where he can find a place where "Prosperity is Perennial." We want you to make investigation about this section. The Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce will gladly and cheerfully give any information asked for by anybody, either local or otherwise. If we haven't got it we will get it for you.

North Carolina To The Front Rank

Although this publication deals primarily with conditions in Eastern North Carolina, it might be well to give a few facts about the State as a whole. The counties listed in this publication have made it possible and although the territory covered by this organization includes 46 counties, only those making appropriations for this special work are included in this book. However, the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce will be delighted to furnish information about any of the counties of the forty-six.

No state in the Union has made such rapid increase industrially, agriculturally, and educationally as North Carolina, during the recent years. Her growth sounds more like a fairy tale than it does real facts. But it is a fact just the same. In 1900 expenditures for education in North Carolina amounted to less than a million; in 1923 the expenditures total $23,000,000.00. In 1900 the expenditures for new school buildings was less than $41,000.00; in 1922 it was more than $6,000,000.00. In 1900 the average value of each school house was $150.00; in 1922 it was $4,500.00. In 1900 the average length of public school term was 73 days; in 1922 it was 143 days. In 1900 North Carolina had about 30 high schools; in 1923 she had 475. In 1900 the percentage of illiteracy in North Carolina was 29.4; in 1920 it had been reduced to 13.1, the white race being only 7.1.

MANUFACTURING

In 1900 the capital invested in manufacturing in North Carolina was $68,283,000.00; in 1920 it was $669,144,000.00. In 1900 the value of manufactured products was $85,274,000.00; in 1920, $943,808,000.00. In 1900 North Carolina cotton mills used 190,000,000 pounds of cotton; in 1920, 449,000,000 pounds. In 1900 North Carolina produced 29,790,000 bushels of corn; in 1920, 54,630,000 bushels.

FINANCES

These figures speak for themselves. In 1900 the total resources of the National Banks of North Carolina was $15,362,000.00; in 1920, $183,816,000.00. In 1900 the total deposits in National Banks in the State were $16,700,000.00; in 1920 they were $315,000,000.00. In 1900 the assessed valuation of property in the State was $306,579,000.00; in 1920 it was $3,139,705,000.00.

EASTERN NORTH CAROLINA HAS HER SHARE

Our territory covers half the State and the enormous figures referred to above apply half to Eastern Carolina and half to the other part of the State. No section of the State has made greater progress along any line than the Eastern Part of the State and we take great pride in submitting figures to anybody interested in determining any of the above facts relating to this section.
